PCHA refutes misspending charge

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

Top officials of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA), which operates Wayne's Annapolis Hospital and three other suburban Detroit hospitals, Monday labeled as "totally inaccurate and unfair" a newspaper article they feel alleges that the authority misspent public funds.

The officials also called the Sunday story in The Detroit News "a gross misrepresentation of the facts," and accused its writer of not investigating the facts.

Particularly, the PCHA directors refuted the story's statement that the 46-member Board of Directors and other administrative officials spent nearly "$100,000 to entertain and educate themselves (during an 18-month period), despite court restrictions on such spending."

According to figures released by PCHA Chairman of the Board Donald Pizzimenti yesterday, $42,726.67 was spent in the 18-month period from July 1, 1971 to Dec. 16, 1972 to send administrative and medical personnel and members of the Board of Directors to "important training and administrative" conferences.

Of that amount, only $4,424 was spent on conferences by seven board members, he said.

Nine of the conferences and training sessions were held in New Orleans, Los Angeles and San Juan, Puerto Rico, but Pizzimenti assured reporters that no board members made any of those meetings.

The News' story said such trips were "quite common" during the 18-month period.

The press conference was called by Pizzimenti, Board Vice-Chairman and Mayor of Wayne Patrick J. Norton.

PCHA Executive Director Dr. Karl S. Klicka and PCHA Director of Fiscal Affairs Luther Lawrence.

Besides Annapolis Hospital, the PCHA operates Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park, Seaway Hospital in Trenton and Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti. A fifth hospital, Heritage, is under construction in Taylor.

The PCHA serves 800,000 people in 23 cities and townships, including Wayne, Westland, Garden City, Inkster, Romulus and the townships of Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron.

To help run the PCHA the communities served by the hospitals are assessed .4 mill on each dollar of assessed valuation. In 1972, the tax assessment ran $1.4 million.

The News' story attributed claims about the PCHA to Michigan Aud. Gen. Albert Lee and his staff, which conducted a routine audit on the authority for a period from April, 1966 to March, 1973.

The story said the audit "is not scheduled for release for several weeks," but Pizzimenti and Norton countered that the report actually had been released last September.

Statements made in the story and refuted by the authority officials were numerous.

In particular, they said certain spending by the PCHA was not illegal as the story reported the audit as saying. The issuance of 10 credit cards to top officials, including one board member, Pizzimenti, was also defended by the authority, as was the issuance of new automobiles to 11 officials.

In fact, Pizzimenti noted that the PCHA spends among the least amount of money of any comparable public service groups.

Board members do not receive pay, he added.

He also said the state auditor's office has audited the PCHA's books three times in the last 10 years and has found nothing wrong with them.

The officials strongly objected to a reference in the story that conference trips made by the PCHA are "junkets" and said the authority has violated no court spending restrictions as The News' story attributed to the audit.

The officials produced copies of the audit at the press conference to document their defense.

The story said the auditors "discovered Dr. Klicka is a paid staff lecturer at the University of Michigan...which is in violation of his contract." Pizzimenti and Klicka said the latter is not paid to lecture at the university, but used to be paid several years ago.

"The auditors found nothing wrong with Dr. Klicka being paid then either," Pizzimenti added.

The officials also said the only "free food" received by them comes during about 20 dinner-meetings per year of the Board of Directors. The dinner-meetings are held at the various hospitals and cost about $2,500 yearly, Pizzimenti added.

The PCHA was the center of a controversy in 1965 when the auditor general questioned its travel and related expenses. The controversy ended in the firing of several officials.

Pizzimenti and the other officials at the press conference said Sunday's newspaper article "implied that we're doing something improper."

"This tends to damage or dent our reputation," Pizzimenti continued. "Since the bad publicity we had 10 years ago we have tried hard to dignify the organization."

"We constantly have tried to gain the respect of the 800,000 people we serve, and now this inaccurate and unfair story comes along," Norton said.

More than 3 'Rs' Career plan expands education

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

There are 60 third grade students at Romulus' Cory Elementary School who are learning a bit more than the basic "Three R's."

The students, in classes taught by Cindy Kemp and Marge Van Horn, are taking part in Cory's pilot career education program—a plan which helps make children aware of the various job opportunities which await them in the future.

"It isn't a case of where we're pointing the students at some career, or forcing them to make a decision," Mrs. Kemp said. "It's more a case where the teachers are helping make the children aware of the world around them, and how it works."

"They know that a doctor provides medical care, but do they know of the auxiliary people who are there to back up a doctor?"

"The program is aimed at giving them that education."

Mrs. Kemp said the program is not designed to subtract from the regular curriculum, but to make it broader and at times even more interesting to students.

"The teachers are doing what they've done before, but they're doing more of it," she said. "And it's tied in with a curriculum which shows where the knowledge they're picking up can be useful."

Students in the third grade have heard lectures on communications, including a talk by a telephone repairman and a staff member of The Romulus Roman.

In addition, the students have seen a demonstration on teeth care by students from the University of Detroit Dental School as part of a nutrition and health unit they're studying.

In the future, they'll be exploring various businesses in Romulus as part of a curriculum covering civics.

"While the program is going on in all the classrooms of the school as part of a pilot project leading to a broadening of career education in the curriculum scheduled to begin next year, it's part of a personal project for me," Mrs. Kemp said. "When I got out of high school, I figured I had only two opportunities for employment—teaching and nursing."

"I chose teaching, and love it, but there wasn't any awareness on my part of the other opportunities opened to a woman."

"If it happened to me, it can happen to other students, so it's my job to help these students overcome that in their later life."

"Making the children at least aware of things they can do in later life allows them to select their curriculum in high school so they can shape their education to meet any goals they may have later."

Besides offering the children insight into the working of the world, Mrs. Kemp said the program breeds a good attitude toward schooling on the part of the students.

"The children seem a lot more excited about coming to school with this program, and that attitude is good," Mrs. Kemp said. "They'll look forward to moving on in education, and being eager to learn is part of the requirements for a good student."

Romulus ed board gears up to push for millage renewal

Romulus voters are going to be asked to renew nearly one-quarter of the school district's budget next month.

The Romulus Board of Education is gearing up for a campaign to win renewal of a 9-mill package which expires this fiscal year, and makes up a good portion of the district's 27.65 operating budget.

"The nine mills raises $1.25 million of the district's nearly $7.8 million budget," said Romulus School Supt. Robert McConeghy. "The key to the request is that it isn't new money, but a renewal of what the taxpayers have been paying in the past.

"However obtaining the funds is crucial to operating the schools."

In requesting the 9-mill renewal, Romulus finds itself in a better position than a neighboring district. Although Romulus has lost $52,000 in state aid due to the elimination of the sales tax on food and drugs as a school revenue source, the district faces no further cuts.

Neighboring Van Buren suffered a $90,000 cut in its operating budget only two weeks ago and the district's business officer warned the Board of Education that personnel and program cuts will follow in the next school year.

"If the millage is renewed on April 14, the district can operate at this millage until the new junior high school is opened in September 1976," McConeghy said. "There are some who are worried about opening two new elementary schools scheduled for next year, but I believe that increases in property valuation in the district will raise enough money at the present millage to operate those schools."

McConeghy added that Romulus is fortunate the voters approved an $11.5 million bond issue for three new elementary schools and one new junior high school in 1973.

"An important part of that bond issue was $1 million for equipment in existing schools," he said. "Using that money to furnish schools is saving the district's operating budget from strain at this time."

'Right to Read' earns praise

By RIC BOHY
Of The Roman Staff

A special reading improvement program making use of existing resources in the school district paid a visit to the Romulus Board of Education this week.

A progress report on the implementation of the state-funded "Right to Read" program was presented to the board by reading specialists Mary Korowin and Patti McCabe, at its meeting Monday night.

Prefacing the report with background information on the program—which was initiated in 1973 after the state learned that at least one million youngsters in the country are "functionally illiterate"—the specialists said the district now is engaged in the second phase of the 5-part plan.

That phase, which followed the first step of entry into and commitment to the program, involves establishing relationships between schools in the district with parents and with administrators.

The district next will move to develop and maintain the program, followed in turn by stabilization of it and support of those trained to implement it, and finally termination of the program with evaluation and recycling to other sites.

The specialists assured the board members that progress reports will continue as the program advances.

They added that "Right to Read" emphasizes reading as a fundamental right of every man, woman and child in the country and seeks to achieve that right through the use of existing resources in a given school district."

The board also heard a report from architect Charles Sherman regarding the appearance of a crack in a cast concrete wall panel at the new Wick Elementary School on Wick Road at Ozga.

Sherman told the board further study of methods to "shore up" the floor section supported by the cracked wall will be made before he returns to the board for approval of a study of the fault for the structural defect.

The board also approved the awarding of contracts, totaling $589,627, on phase four of construction at the new North Junior High School. The latest awards bring the total cost of the project to $3,885,152.

Planned for children

Workers set for 'funtastic'

The Romulus Community Workers are preparing for a children's program, "The Easter Funtastic" to be held March 22 at Romulus High School.

"The Easter Funtastics," featuring skits, clowns, a magician, Sesame Street characters and Easter treats for every child, will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Eleven different community groups are co-sponsoring the program.

Under the direction of Geneva Clark, staff member of Family and Neighborhood Services, the Community Workers was formed in September 1973. In keeping with its motto of "helping others while helping ourselves" the Community Workers have sponsored four previous Easter egg hunts and five annual Christmas workshops featuring Santa Claus and the sale of hand made gift items. The Community Workers also have participated in the summer day camp program for handicapped children, handed out literature during millage campaigns, held money raising projects and served as hostesses for various organizations.

Current members of the group are: Brenda Clark, Manuella Fowler, Wanda Hill, Clarice Robinson, Diane Starnes and Kathy Siebalk.

SPELLING CHAMP—Earning a chance to go on to the district spelling bee on April 9, Denise Demick (right), the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Demick of Willis Road in Sumpter Township, won the recent spelling bee championship at Sumpter Road Elementary School. Shown with her are runner-up Susan Gubachi, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Gubachi of 43114 Judd, and teacher Mary Fletcher. The district spell-off will be held in the Belleville High School Auditorium.

Churches offer Lenten services

Belleville residents hoping to find a religious meaning in Lent will have a chance to do so at the second of three communitywide ecumenical services to be held at the Belleville United Presbyterian Church tomorrow.

Sponsored by the Belleville Ministerial Association, organizers are pleased with the first service held last week at Emmanuel Baptist Church, 960 E. Huron River Dr. to which 100 residents attended.

The churches represented were Belleville United Presbyterian Church, Emmanuel Baptist Church, First United Methodist of Belleville, Lutheran Church of the Apostles, St. Anthony's Catholic Church and Trinity Episcopal Church. The major theme for the three services, culminating on Palm Sunday evening, is "Encounter With Christ." The main thrust is to evaluate the place and purpose of the Christian Church in the City of Belleville.

The Rev. Brian K. Fujii, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, officiated the first of the services. Program personalities were The Rev. Carl Benander, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Apostles, The Rev. Jov Arthur, pastor of the First United Methodist of Belleville, Fr. Raymond Skoney, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, and The Rev. Bill Wood, pastor of Belleville United Presbyterian Church. They spoke on the topics of "Proclamation," "Faith Community," "Celebration" and "Service" respectively.

One of the highlights of the program occurred when the congregation met in small groups of seven and were able to evaluate and discuss what the institutional church did and could mean to them during these days of crisis and confusion.

The insights gained were then shared with all as the congregation reconvened as a whole. A definite sense of fellowship emerged as each group began sharing their findings, a participant said.

There will be two other services to which the public is invited. The next one will have a topic of "Who's in Charge Here?", a look at the authority and Lordship of Jesus Christ will be discussed. Finally, on March 23, at St. Anthony's Catholic Church, the topic will be "Which Way Did He Go?", a view of Christian discipleship will be entertained. Both services will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Quirk parents eye PTO

The temporary officers of the fledgling Quirk Elementary School Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO) have called for an election of officers March 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the school's auditorium.

The officers are hoping to establish a new PTO at the school to help work on school improvements during the school year.

The former PTO was disbanded at the school.

All parents living in the Quirk School attendance area are urged to attend the meeting.

As community building

Residents may reap bonus

Romulus citizens may receive a "bonus" for their federal income taxes within the near future. The United States Congress is considering the establishment of a community facilities grant system which will offer cities money to build community buildings.

Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt said the system, if approved as anticipated this year, could be used to finance construction of a community facility building or other public building with the federal government paying as much as 75 percent of the cost.

"I heard of the plan last week when I attended the National Mayor's Conference in Washington, D. C.," Troutt said. "Both Congressman Bill Ford (D-15th District) and Sen. Philip Hart (D-Michigan) seemed convinced that the Congress would be passing the bill to help provide jobs."

Troutt added that the concept, similar to a plan implemented in the late 1950s by President Dwight D. Eisenhower, would provide jobs by making federal funds available for construction projects.

"Congressman Ford seemed to think it was better to allow people an opportunity to work than to provide money to cities to furnish jobs," Troutt said. "There are only so many jobs a city can create to keep people employed, but if the economy is stimulated by providing projects which need all types of workers, then the nation may be able to work out of this recession."

Troutt said that the grant system would not only provide work to construction workers by allowing cities the opportunity to construct public buildings, but also will stimulate such consumer industries by putting money in workers' pockets.

"If a construction worker has a job, he'll be more prone to buying a car," Troutt said. "That helps employ an autoworker."

Troutt added that he would like the public funds to be used on a community facility building, which provides recreational opportunities to citizens, and a new fire station in Romulus' southern section.

"The city will lose the existing station to airport expansion," Troutt said. "I'm hoping the funds the city obtains for losing the land combined with funds from the anticipated federal program, would be used to finance the fire station without putting a strain on the general fund budget."

The city has architects exploring possible designs for a facility.

Club stages tale

The Romulus Drama Club is gearing up for its third production in two years as it prepares to stage "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," to be performed today for school children and Saturday at 7:30 p.m. for the general public.

Tickets are available at the school and cost $1.25 for adults, $1 for students and 50 cents for children under the age of 5.

Workers survey cleanup

Romulus is planning to spend more than $150,000 in public employment funds from the federal government to clean up the community.

Mayor Terry L. Troutt said the city will use $49,000 left over from last year's Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) allotment from the federal government and some of the $112,000 in this year's allotment to hire inspection officers to clean up the city and possibly build facilities.

"The city has to use the $49,000 from this year or lose it before the end of June," the mayor said. "I think it would be a good idea if the money was spent on clean-up crews who can help with the city's cleanup campaign."

"After the cleanup, some workers will be kept on to improve city facilities."

Troutt said the city is being flooded with applications from skilled laborers, particularly those in the hard-hit construction industry, for public service jobs.

"You'd be surprised at the number of applicants on file with the city who are willing to work in the CETA program because they can't find jobs within their skills," Troutt said. "I've seen applications from carpenters, plumbers and electricians and those skills can be used in the city."

Troutt is hoping that the CETA workers could be used to improve the city's park system and complete work on those parks already started by the city.

"There's a need for wiring, plumbing and carpentry help, and to contract for those skills would be expensive," Troutt said. "The city can save some money by hiring these employees."

Troutt added that the city will face no protests from union employees working for the city.

As we see it

Your tax $$ going for sex study!

There is no question about it. Members of The Wayne-Westland Community, other residents in Wayne County and across Michigan are hard hit by the economic slowdown. The lines are getting longer at the unemployment office in Wayne, another temporary facility had to be opened to speed up the system of getting benefits, and a temporary parking lot had to be prepared so that the unemployed would not have to park illegally and be ticketed.

Hard times have hit many area residents who want to work. Hard times also have hit most city, state and national budgets. Gov. Milliken and state legislators are looking for ways to cut spending in Michigan and talk continues about increasing income tax to make ends meet.

There's no question about it.

People are tightening their budgets; having less money to spend. And yet more than $342,000 in federal funds will be used to seek detailed information on the sexual activity of Michigan State University (MSU) students.

Yes, you read right—the sexual activity of Michigan

State University students! Talk about governmental waste. It's bad enough having legislators in Lansing remodeling their offices at the taxpayers' expense, but studying the sex life of students is going too far.

The Associated Press this week reported that the grant from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development was awarded last spring to a former scientist-administrator at the institute. The grant of $342,378 to David J. Kallen, now a professor at MSU's department of human development, even was $99,761 more than requested.

The project is to include interviews with 400 to 600 unmarried women who go to the school's health center for pregnancy tests and volunteer to discuss their sexual activity. Additional interviews are to be held with 400 male and 400 female students chosen at random.

The questionnaire for the project still has to be approved by the White House Office of Management and Budget before the 5-hour interviews, which graduate students will conduct for $5.50 an hour, legally can begin. Some comfort, right?

Kallen defends the project by saying it will be "scientifically important and hopefully have practical value."

"We are going to be looking at sexual behavior, but also other aspects of the behavior as well," he added. "The value of the study is understanding the influence of peer groups, parents and other adults on the behavior of young people."

"We are concerned about the fact that a substantial minority of college students are not adequately protected contraceptively. And we would hope our studies would lead to information which would permit development of a program to make sure such students were protected."

It's only fair to give Kallen his say. But we just can't buy his argument. The spending of $342,000 to study the sexual activity of university student is a flagrant waste of taxpayers' money.

Reports show that people are hungry in the United States; while others across the world are starving. And the government is going to spend $342,000 to study sex?

At least one senator, William Proxmire of Wisconsin, is asking for an investigation of what he feels may be a possible invasion of privacy, waste of taxpayers' money and a pattern of approving higher grants than requested.

And that's good. There just cannot be any justification for spending our hard earned tax dollars on such studies, this being the first of a multi-project proposal to "research on the regulation of fertility."

Such government waste must be stopped.

Senators remodel offices

Talk about legislative waste!

Times are tough in Lansing. The state is $180 million short for the current fiscal year, state programs such as mental health and education have been cut back and lawmakers are looking longingly for the way out of the dilemma.

Meanwhile, over on the Senate side of the building, a massive remodeling is going on in some of the offices to provide plush carpeting, more space and better furnishings for the members of the upper chamber.

No one knows what it will cost when done. No bids were taken on any of the work. No estimates were taken on each project.

Preliminary figures estimate the work in January alone cost $65,000 in taxpayers' money.

Most of the offices affected were remodeled only two years ago. And none would have qualified as depressed areas before they were stripped bare by workmen and new furnishings were brought in.

It's the old timers who are getting most of the work done. The really big remodeling jobs are being done for Sens. Arthur Cartwright, Joseph Mack, John Bowman, Jack McCauley and Robert Davis. Senate Democratic Leader William Fitzgerald of Detroit said he's going to have a list of who got what put together, but he doesn't have one yet.

Fitzgerald added, without much conviction in his voice, that he feels some remodeling is necessary to give the senators a nice work area. He hasn't touched his office, but he is in a bind. As the Democratic leader, he has to defend the actions of his flock, even when he disagrees with them.

Other Senate Democrats, who have seen promised state assistance to commercial fishermen hurt by new net regulations canceled, who see thousands of unemployed persons standing for hours in line, who see a tax increase coming, privately are appalled by the "Let them eat cake" attitude typified by the lavish remodeling. But they are afraid to speak out for fear the remodelers will retaliate when a vote is needed on the Senate floor.

To get along, they go along.

Not everyone is going along, however.

Gov. William G. Milliken, who normally steers very wide of any criticism of internal activities of the House or Senate, told a press conference he felt it was "reasonable" for voters to expect all branches of government to "do what they can to cut back."

"Some of the projects have gotten under way and of course could not easily be stopped in midstream," he said. "But I would hope new starts would be at an absolute minimum."

And four Democratic members of the Senate, John Hertel, Patrick McCollough, Kerry Kammer and David Plawewski, have been pushing for formation of a special committee to study waste in state government. They said they'll look everywhere if given the go ahead. Perhaps because of that they have been stalled around by the Senate Business Committee. None of the four, by the way, is remodeling his office.

In terms of state spending, of course, the amounts talked about are tiny. But it's the attitude of those doing the spending on personal luxury in times of great suffering which is important. Some of those with the most lavish quarters are the first to give long, impassioned speeches against government spending. It's an old game around here — talk one way and act another.

One of the rays of sunshine is that it's the oldtimers doing the lavish remodeling on their own behalf. The newcomers haven't picked up the habit yet and are happy with their offices as they found them. They even show signs of a built-in, permanent immunity to the bigger, wider, more plush virus.

They seem to know that the phrase "public service" refers to what legislators can do for their constituents, not what constituents can do, or buy, for their legislators.

Residents back organization

To The Editor: We would like to see the letter below appear in The Enterprise-Roman, in answer to the letter signed "Satisfied Belle Villa Estates Residents" which appeared in your Feb. 12 edition.

We would like to know why a few narrow-minded people are condemning an organization they know nothing about. We want these people to understand that we stand for the same thing as they do.

We also read and signed our agreement to abide by the rules of the Belle Villa Estates, before we moved in. However, who has the right to alter these rules such as changing the clubhouse hours? Why couldn't the residents of our park be asked about any changes made in the rules before they are made? Perhaps if the majority of the park accepts the changes, then they should be made. If the majority does not accept, then we could leave things as they are.

We would like to know, also, why it is that you the "Satisfied Belle Villa Estates Residents" who have no complaints ended your letter with a complaint stating: "It's true that our lawn could have used another feeding of fertilizer last summer?"

Thus, we, the not-completely-satisfied Belle Villa Estates residents would like to extend an invitation to the satisfied Belle Villa Estates residents to put forth a little effort and attend one of our meetings, therefore being able to voice your own opinion.

GET THAT OIL Forceful takeover the answer?

By STAN OPOTOWSKY
Enterprise-Roman Special Columnist

The horrible thing about our present economic predicament is that we have the worst of two worlds.

In bygone years when there was a recession, those who kept their jobs did fairly well at the marketplace because prices were low. Now, however, we have a recession and yet those who still are working still are suffering because of inflation.

There appears to be one reason for the imbalance, and that is the artificial price of oil, kept high not by demand or the affluence of the purchasers but rather by the cartel which has rigged its rates.

Is there a solution? Secretary of State Kissinger startled the world a few weeks ago by suggesting that we could get desperate enough to seize the Arab oil fields by force, and his comments were followed by a few learned tracts from foreign affairs experts who opined Kissinger's threat was not as outrageous as it may have first seemed.

After all, what do you do when you're starving and there's a flourishing cornfield next door?

An answer to this may be that you don't steal, no matter whatever else you do. We sympathize with the hungry man who breaks into a grocery store to burgle its foodstuffs, but we don't excuse him. Caught, he goes to jail.

If you accept that, then you must in turn accept the fact that the Arabs won the oil and no other country has the right to go steal it even if that country is starving for the fuel.

So then what do we do? Well, there might be an answer, and the answer might be one we take from the Arabs themselves.

Once the oil companies, particularly the American oil companies, own those wells because they dug them and then developed the pipelines and other facilities to cart the oil to market.

The Arabs decreed that these natural resources belonged to them and they nationalized the wells. They did it for the good of their nations, they said.

Very well then, if the oil fields can be nationalized for the good of the nations, why can they not in turn be internationalized for the good of the world?

The Arab governments exercised their sovereignty and seized the wells from the oil companies. Why cannot the United Nations exercise its sovereignty and seize the wells in turn from the Arab government?

There certainly is no precedent in international law for this, but then there is likewise no precedent in international commerce for the holdup the Arabs are perpetrating on the industrialized world.

The United Nations has sent peace-keeping military forces into foreign lands in the past to halt wars. It certainly could send such forces into Arab oil fields to halt starvation.

And in essence, the world would get the oil in exactly the same manner the Arabs got it — by seizing it for the greater good.

For metroparks

HCMA explains purpose

For Western Wayne County residents Lower Huron Metropark is a place to get away from the hustle and bustle of modern life, a time to get back to nature. But as park visitors have you ever wondered what's behind the park?

The symbol of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA) is a representation of a human figure, with a skyscraper on one hand and the forest on the other, signifying the desire of all people, city and country dwellers, to enjoy and preserve for the future the natural surroundings of unusual scenic appeal.

The metropark system serves more than four million residents in the Detroit metropolitan area, embracing five counties — Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne. An Enabling Act of the 1939 State Legislature permitted citizens of these five counties to join together as a metropolitan district and organize an authority to provide regional parks, parkways and access roads for the public at large. The voters of the five counties approved the creation of the HCMA in the 1940 general election.

The 10 metroparks are Metropolitan Beach Metropark, 550 acres near Mt. Clemens; Stony Creek Metropark, 4,000 acres near Utica; Marshbank Metropark, 115 acres southwest of Pontiac; Kensington Metropark, 4,500 acres near Milford; Hudson Mills Metropark, 935 acres near South Lyon; Dexter-Huron Metropark, 115 acres, and Delhi Metropark, 45 acres, each northwest of Ann Arbor; Lower Huron Metropark, 1,200 acres near Belleville; Willow Metropark, 1,500 acres, and acres, each Northwest of Flat Rock.

Romulus Jaycees set goal for sale

The Romulus Jaycees are planning to embark on its annual "Jelly Week" jelly sale to benefit mentally handicapped and disadvantaged children in the Romulus area.

To be held April 6 through 19, the sale is designed to raise funds for the Eager Beavers of the Family Neighborhood Services.

The Eager Beavers provide recreation for Romulus-area mentally handicapped and disadvantaged children.

Last year, the Jaycees sold 1,200 jars of jelly, raising more than $600 for the Eager Beavers and the Jaycees' state charity, "All God's Children."

This year, the Jaycees in Romulus have set a goal of 1,500 jars of jelly at a price of $1 per jar.

Jelly sold in the sale comes in a mug that can be used as a glass after it is empty. Only one flavor—grape—is available.

Dwayne Montgomery is the local chairman for the project.

According to Montgomery, the Jaycees will canvas large subdivisions and the businesses in the city.

Residents interested in ordering jelly ahead of time can do so by contacting Montgomery at 326-5554 or by writing the Jaycees at P.O. Box 35, Romulus.

Jelly Week is part of a Michigan Jaycee-sponsored project.

Oakwoods Metropark, featuring a large nature center and several nature trails for self-guided hikes, is expected to open for public use in the early summer of 1975.

True to its symbol, the HCMA is preserving for all time the scenic possibilities of the "green belt" surrounding the metropolitan district.

LEGISLATOR IS GUEST — At the March meeting of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) the guest speaker was State Representative Gary Owen who spoke on women's rights followed by a question and answer period. Diane Moriarty (right) and the remainder

BPW hears Rep. Gary Owen speak on women's rights

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) held its March 4 meeting and pot luck dinner in the home economics room of South Junior High School. The theme for the evening was St. Patrick's Day with 26 members and 12 guests attending.

The legislative committee comprised of Marilyn Montgomery, Diane Moriarty, Jean McArdle, Evelyn Pullen and Ruth Shoup planned the meeting which featured State Representative Gary Owen. He spoke on women's rights and legislation including day care licensing, the permissive bill regarding women's commissions on the state level, the retirement system and the economic description for women. He also announced to the group that his wife had just given birth to a baby girl and that now he is somewhat outnumbered in his own home since the two family dogs are also female.

Following a question and answer period the business meeting was conducted. Upcoming events include the District 15 meeting to be held at the Dearborn Inn April 9 and the state convention slated for May 16, 17 and 18 in Traverse City. The national convention will take place July 20 to 24 in Las Vegas.

The club's annual spring rummage sale will be held April 26 at the Masonic Temple in Belleville. Members are urged to check their homes early for items they might contribute to the sale.

The various committees reported and the "Do Something Committee" announced its day care project was progressing nicely. One of the consultants for the Wayne County Child Care Coordinating Council is preparing a series of articles regarding child care which will be submitted to local newspapers. The committee will also sponsor a child care seminar at the Van Buren Township Hall March 17. It will be open to the entire community; however, a special invitation is extended to all nursery schools and child care center teachers and parents.

Planned by BPW

Child care centers will be discussed at seminar

The Belleville Business and Professional Women have been exploring the child care situation in the community as their "Do Something" project for this year. In connection with this they have arranged for an early childhood education seminar entitled "Living and Learning." The seminar will be at the Van Buren Township Hall March 17 from 7:30 to 9:30 P.M. They have been assisted by the Wayne County Child Care Coordinating Council in planning for this event.

Michigan and is a consultant for the Wayne County Child Care Coordinating Council.

There will be a slide presentation, discussion, exhibits and workshop opportunities. These are designed to show the kinds of experiences and relationships that are important in the living and learning that children to each day.

All parents, teachers and other interested persons are welcome to attend the seminar. There is no fee or registration necessary.

Bride-elect 'showered'

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Sheila Metcalf and Marty Soehren have a big date coming up — their wedding on May 24 at Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak, Marty's home "town." So it was that on March 2, the bride-elect's sister and future honor attendant, Denise Metcalf, played hostess at a miscellaneous bridal shower.

Reserving the VFW Hall on Bemis Road, Denise welcomed 36 guests from Chicago, Ill., Royal Oak, Taylor, Detroit, Troy, Romulus and Belleville to the party. Shower games were followed by a full-course dinner and the presentation of gifts.

On hand to help with the activities and wearing yellow carnation corsages to contrast with the honoree's green flowers were the bevy of bridesmaids: Pat Jamison and Tina Young of Belleville; Judy Soehren of Royal Oak; and Elizabeth Ferris and Michelle Gibson of Wayne. Also present was the five-year old flowergirl-to-be, Mary Der Stepanian of Dearborn, whose little corsage had red rosebuds and baby's breath in it.

Flu strikes traveler

Jim and Pat Shephard's trip out to the west coast ended in "temperature's rising" and not because of any attitude or human conflict but because of ye olde flu bug which put Jim in St. Joseph's Hospital in Vancouver, Wash. for three days. The couple and their four months old son, Daryle, flew to Portland and then were houseguests of Daryle and Chris Rustvold and their two girls, Tina and Mari Pat, in Vancouver — the death of their host's mother, Agnes Galloway, prompting their trip.

Jim, who has been considered "family" ever since his and Daryle's four-year stint together in the Air Force and Vietnam, was asked to be a pallbearer during services at Evergreen Memorial Gardens in Vancouver.

Just before their departure, Pat began developing all the symptoms which had hospitalized her hubby so it was a quick trip home — then nearly a week battling the bug herself.

Smiths visit daughter

Another couple just home from Washington are the Bert Smiths who winged their way out to Seattle for a week's visit with their daughter, Luanne. A senior at Kalamazoo College, Luanne is doing research and writing her required paper for graduation while being affiliated this term with the University of Washington.

Along with her fiancé, Pete Schonfeld, she showed her parents around the mountain-fringed, hilly terrain. Among the highlights of their stay was a four-hour cruise through the San Juan Islands enroute to Victoria, the capitol of British Columbia, where they spent the day. They also had an eagle's view of Mount Rainier, the Olympic and Cascade Mountain ranges, the city and harbor from atop the Space Needle.

Through fog and rain...

In spite of rain and fog (and just a plain miserable day), 20 couples from "The Crapshot Squares", a Belleville square dance club, headed out of town Feb. 22 on their second annual mystery trip. The only person knowing their ultimate destination was caller, Joe Reed of Belleville.

All drivers were supplied with a map in the event they were separated from their caravan, to be opened only for that reason.

The planned three hour trip extended into four hours before they arrived foggily in Grand Rapids at the Christian Reform Church. There they danced the evening away to the calls of a father-son team, Jack and John Cook.

The Belleville contingent then stopped at the Steak House in Grand Rapids where advance preparations had been made for their dining. Then it was homeward through even thicker fog — taking a total of five hours before they could hit they hay (around 5 a.m. to be more precise.)

Garden Club learns about herb gardening

The Huron Valley Garden Club held its March 3 meeting at the Liberty Street home of Mrs. Donald Carlson. Twenty members and two guests were present including the club's newest member, Mrs. Helen White. During the business meeting, which was conducted by Mrs. William Hennells, president, the group voted to sell drawing tote bags which come in a variety of colors. At that time Mrs. Paul Holman was named bi-centennial chairman for the club.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Stephen Kuchta, known as "Mother Nature" in this area, had herbs as her topic, giving their history and information on growing, care and useage. She also displayed an herb wreath she had designed.

Mrs. John Mac Dermid of Riggs Road will entertain at the April 7 meeting. A guest from the Wayne County Extension will speak on organic gardening at that time.

MR. AND MRS. CHRISTOPHER M. LOCHRIE

EMU campus chapel chosen for wedding

Since their return from a honeymoon in northern Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Michael Lochrie have taken up residence at 1465 Russell St., Ypsilanti.

Donna Marie Silvenis became Mrs. Lochrie in a 7 p.m. ceremony Feb. 21 at Holy Trinity Chapel on the campus of Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti. The Rev. Robert Kerr presided at the double ring rite before an altar appointed with candles and flowers.

Music was supplied by organist Marlene Wallersteadt; guitarist Patty Gryble and soloist Marie Parker.

ESCORTED UP the aisle by her father, the bride appeared in a toe-touching gown of white lace styled with a high lace collar on the oval illusion bodice. Long, full sleeves and a deep flounce on the bouffant skirt were other styling details of her dress which was accented with a white sash on the empire waistline.

Her full-length illusion veil drifted from a lace cap and her bouquet of white miniature carnations, dark blue straw flowers and baby's breath was tied with dark blue velvet ribbon.

A childhood friend of the bride, Kim L. Hogan of Belleville, was the only attendant. She carried a bouquet of pale blue carnations and straw flowers to contrast with her dark blue crepe dress which was trimmed with white lace on the high collar and long sleeves.

The bridegroom chose his childhood friend, Tom Branscomb of Belleville, to be best man. Ushers were a brother, Dennis Lochrie, and Chris Lauber, both of Belleville.

PARENTS OF the young couple, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Silvenis of 47745 Bemis Rd., Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. John Lochrie of 1125 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville, later greeted guests at the reception for 90 at Vigo's Restaurant in Ypsilanti.

For the occasion, Mrs. Silvenis donned an aqua formal dress of cotton lace and Mrs. Lochrie a silver metallic rose floral print gown. Both were presented with corsages of double white carnations.

The newlyweds are both graduates of Belleville High School. The new Mrs. Lochrie is currently in her sophomore year at Eastern Michigan University where she is majoring in optometry. Her bridegroom is employed at Sesi Lincoln Mercury in Ypsilanti.

The rehearsal party was hosted by the senior Lochries at their home.

Surprise party honors McNetts

A surprise dinner party on Feb. 22 honored the silver wedding anniversary of Clinton and Delores McNett of 14001 Hannan Rd., Romulus. Held at the American Legion Hall in Taylor, the celebration was planned by the couple's children, James and Connie Nivison of Belleville; Gene and Shirley Emond of Taylor; John and Carol Kessler of Romulus and Mark and Schotzie McNett of Taylor.

For the occasion the hall was decorated in silver, violet and white, the flower of the month being the violet. The three-tiered wedding cake, made by their daughter Carol, was also in the same colors.

Seventy friends and relatives enjoyed the dinner and dancing which followed. Among the guests was Clinton McNett Sr. whose wife, Myrtle, was in the hospital and unable to attend. Delores' parents who live in California could not be present but sent their best wishes.

Clinton has worked for the Wayne County Road Commission in New Boston for the past 20 years. His hobbies are old gasoline engines and snowmobiling and his wife enjoys plants, gardening and her six grandchildren, Eric, Lance, Jeremy, Carrie, Ingrid and Clint.

The honored lady, who was presented with a corsage of white carnations, red rosebuds and silver leaves, wore a floor length dress in red, white and green for the special event. The McNett party planners wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Charles Renton of Belleville for their help with the guest list.

Outlet set for youth abuses

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of Enterprise-Roman Staff

School-aged youngsters and young adults in the area soon may have a new outlet for information on the most abused drugs.

The director of alcoholism therapy at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti is awaiting word from the Michigan attorney general's office on his request for a $24,000 grant to help fund an alcoholism counseling program for persons under 25-years-of-age.

"Alcoholism programs are missing the boat on younger people," said Art Schaffran, director of the Beyer program. "The younger people tend to believe that alcoholism programs are for older persons, and I must admit, that many of the programs do not meet the needs of a younger person. But alcoholism is just as deadly to a youngster as it is to an adult."

Schaffran added that the program, which he will enter jointly with the student volunteer organization "Students Offering Services" (SOS) in Ypsilanti, will be aimed at both young alcoholics and the children of alcoholics.

"There are many who believe alcoholism is a problem of the older generation," Schaffran said. "But it is increasing in the schools and children at lower and lower ages are suffering from it."

"I was at an Alcoholics Anonymous meeting where an 11-year-old was receiving a pin for his first year of sobriety," Schaffran added that the program will try to detail the progressive nature of alcoholism for young persons who are alcoholics. "It will be designed to make them aware of where they are heading if they continue to drink, and to give them an awareness of themselves as a valuable person who is worth saving."

For the children of alcoholics, the program will be designed to teach them the effects of drinking and the responsibility they have to watch their own lives.

"It's a statistical fact that the children of alcoholics tend toward the disease more than the children of non-alcoholics," Schaffran said. "I don't know if it's because of the environment they grow up in, or whether it's hereditary, but it's something that has to be coped with."

Schaffran said that once the program is underway, he will welcome referrals from any community in the Beyer area. Persons desiring information on the program can obtain it by calling Schaffran at 485-1180.

Community Mart adds new dimension to plan

Romulus' community mart, scheduled to be held in the parking lot of Romulus City Hall during the spring, summer and early fall, will have a new dimension in its second year.

Beverly McNally, mayor pro-tem of the city and promoter of the community mart, intends to add a flea market to the program in an effort to offer a more diversified product to consumers.

"I'd say the community mart had pretty good crowds during its first year of operation last year, with as many as 1,000 people showing up on good weekends," Mrs. McNally said. "But there is a demand for an outlet for people who have small items they want to offer for resale, and I think the community mart is the place for it."

The mart was devised by Mrs. McNally to offer farmers an outlet for their home-grown produce near their farms and artisans in Romulus a place to display and sell their products near home, while offering residents of the community a place to mingle with their neighbors and establish friendships.

"It proved a success," Mrs. McNally said of last year's effort. "We had lots and lots of people out there mingling with others from Romulus and getting acquainted."

"But I think it can get bigger than before. The flea market concept will add another dimension."

Mrs. McNally added that the community mart is not designed to cut into product sales offered by established businesses in Romulus, but to offer the small independent grower or artisan a place to sell his wares.

"A farmer who grows on a small garden plot isn't selling produce to food chains," Mrs. McNally continued. "But at the same time, that person may have something to sell, and the community mart's the place."

Although the start of the growing season still is a few weeks off, and the selling season for fresh-grown produce is even farther removed, Mrs. McNally and her community mart committee are busy devising plans for this year's program.

Road Patrol to query 'What do you think?'

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of Enterprise-Roman Staff

New Road Patrol officers of the Wayne County

Sheriff's Department will be asking Romulus residents "what do you think" of county services.

The newly-sworn-in officers will be canvassing the city to ask citizens if they've had contact with the Road Patrol; whether they were satisfied with the service they received, and if they had any suggestions for improving the service.

"The program was instituted by Wayne County, but I fully endorse it," said Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt. "It's a good program designed to find what the citizens desire and need in the area of police protection."

More than 30 new recruits will be visiting homes in Romulus and asking residents of the community to answer a questionnaire on police protection.

"I've been concerned about the sheriff's protection of Romulus," Troutt said. "I have no complaints about the service, but I want to be assured that the sheriff is providing the protection this community needs."

"This is one way of determining that."

Romulus contracts with the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol for protective services, paying in excess of $900,000 per year for four automobiles to patrol city streets 24-hours a day seven days a week, two detectives to handle cases in the city and one juvenile officer.

The program is similar to one proposed by the sheriff to townships in the county, and offered to other cities in the county on a contract basis.

The Romulus program

may be designed to sample public opinion in an effort to make the service of the sheriff more attractive to prospective contractors of the protection, Troutt said.

Townships in the county, including Huron, Van Buren and Sumpter, are being urged to contract for the Road Patrol services. In the past the county provided the service to townships at no cost to the township general fund.

However, county financial problems and the county's trend toward urbanization have forced the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to issue several ultimatums on removing the Road Patrol service from townships unless the townships contract for the service and pay part of the cost with their general fund budgets.

Belleville High School readies for 'Unsinkable Molly Brown'

This May, in the tradition of its past successful all-school productions, Belleville High School brings to the state Meredith Wilson's musical, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." Work toward production began last week, with a mass meeting for all interested students. Nearly 150 students attended. During that week, auditions were held for acting and orchestra parts, and production committees were formed.

Louise Pitcher, director, along with Karen Sinkus, assistant director, and Glenn Curtis, technical director, are working with more than 15 faculty members and the high school students to prepare for the performances of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" May 8, 9, 10, 16 and 17.

Students and faculty now are busy rehearsing, making costumes, publicity, sets, lighting, sound, programs, make-up, ushering schedules and patron lists in preparation for opening night.

GM pays for ideas

Despite adverse economic conditions, General Motors paid out nearly $13 million to hourly and salaried employees under the GM Suggestion Plan in 1974.

Stephen H. Fuller, vice-president in charge of the Personnel Administration and Development Staff, said GM employees in the U.S. and Canada received $12,779,023 in suggestion awards last year. Seventy-eight GM employees received maximum awards of $10,000 each.

Of the 484,098 suggestions submitted by eligible employees, 145,466 were adopted, Fuller added.

The GM Suggestion Plan has been in effect since 1942. Since then more than $198 million has been paid out for 3,520,000 adopted suggestions.

HAROLD REDISKE, JR., DIRECTOR

Have you ever had a yen to "get away from it all"? To go someplace do something - forget everything and everyone for a while? Grinding pressures and tensions upset equilibrium and create a feeling of wanting to be alone. Unpleasantities of sorrow, grief, dismay and disappointments can also cause a yearning to distance yourself from others. The plain fact is no one can ever be completely alone. You have your thoughts, your memories, your emotions with you and you can not forever separate yourself from them.

There is a way though to satisfy an overpowering need to go someplace...do something...Go ahead. Go someplace. Any place. Quickly, the closer the better. In a Biblical figure of speech that close by someplace-anyplace is called the "Upper Room"...A place of prayer can be anywhere - in your home or elsewhere. Visit "The Upper Room"... There is no better way to gain relief or renewed hope. Millions of people know this is true. If you doubt it - try it.

Three vie for academy posts

Three Western Wayne County students were among 21 young men nominated recently by Congressman William D. Ford (D-Mich)

for appointment to the nation's military service academies to prepare for careers as officers in the armed services.

They are Michael Alimpich, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Alimpich of Belleville; William Lester VanScyoc, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester VanScyoc of Romulus, and Mark David Myhand, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chase of Belleville.

The nominations are for the class which will begin in July at either the Army's Military Academy at West Point, the Naval Academy at Annapolis, the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs or the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N. Y.

Ford's nominations culminate a strict selection process to pick the most highly qualified among all those who applied for appointments.

Jaycees sponsor benefit

The Romulus Jaycees are sponsoring a benefit dance for the March of Dimes.

Scheduled for 8 p.m. March 22 at the Romulus Progressive Hall, the dance will feature entertainment with live music, free beer and set-ups at a cost of $8 per couple.

Profits from the dance will be donated to the March of Dimes, which is raising money to do research into the prevention of birth defects.

Tickets can be obtained by sending a check or money order to the Romulus Jaycees, P.O. Box 35, Romulus.

Besides selling tickets for the dance, the Jaycees are willing to send a donation to the March of Dimes.

Information on donating money or the dance can be obtained by calling project chairman Fred Coleman at 699-9191 after 6 p.m. weekdays.

Bill to benefit seniors

A bill which would allow persons to declare themselves senior citizens at age 62 instead of the present 65 for the purpose of filing state income tax forms has been introduced by State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland).

"I believe that most people retire at age 62," Faust said. "My bill simply updates a law based on the theory that most people retire at age 65."

The senior citizen designation would give thousands of Michigan residents additional personal exemptions and property tax credits on their state income tax.

"With the cost of living continuing to rise at an almost unbelievable level, retirees who are forced to live on fixed incomes deserve every possible consideration that we can give them," the Westland Democrat added.

Faust also recently called for police officers and fire fighters to receive retirement credit for active military service.

The bill would give up to five years credit for active military service to police and fire fighters who have accumulated 15 or more years of retirement system credit.

Camping guide available free

Free copies of the 1975 Michigan Campgrounds Directory, listing 35 of the state's finest private camping sites, now are available from the Michigan Association of Recreational Vehicles and Campgrounds (MARVAC).

The directory pinpoints the campgrounds on a map of Michigan and contains small maps showing how to reach each one. The campgrounds are coded with reference to 21 customer services.

Ed Klim, director of the Michigan Mobile Home and Recreational Vehicle Institute (MMHRVI), said copies of the directory are available from MARVAC members, suppliers, State Police posts, State Highway Department offices, chambers of commerce and other outlets.

They also may be obtained by sending a self-addressed stamped business-size envelope to Campground Directory, MARVAC, 19045 Farmington Road, Livonia 48152.

Here, you pick top cagers

By TOM MOORADIAN

It is done.

The 1974-75 All-Area cagers and the Coach of the Year have been chosen.

And the job was extremely difficult.

The players make it so. The reason is a simple one: they're getting progressively better with each passing season. There are so many excellent ball players — here, just look at the field: Mel Abraham (Belleville), Walt Easley (Belleville), his younger brother, Dennis, then there are John Jesson, Terry Johnson and Harry Polovino — all from Westland John Glenn; Bob Fowler, Cherry Hill's super star, and Garden City West's scoring twins — Dave Niles and Mike Susko as well as Wayne Memorial's John Nibert and Pat Sheridan.

And we can go on and on...

FROM THIS FIELD, only 10 players whose credentials are impeccable form the final lineup. To narrow it down to 10, it took umpteen phone calls not only to the candidates' coach, but to out-of-the-area coaches whose teams met head-on with the candidate.

"Which player would you select if you had a choice, for example, between this player and that one," I would ask, and the answer would be a long narrative arguing the pros and cons of each.

I feel though that this year's crop, and I seem to be saying this each year, is the best.

Equally difficult was the final selection of our Coach of the Year. With candidates such as Belleville's Tom Niemi, Westland John Glenn's Gordie Davis, Garden City West's Chris Babler and East's Billy Joe Young along with Cherry Hill's Dick McNally it is a wonder that we had to weigh our decision carefully to make the final selection.

Each coach had an outstanding year; four won titles: Niemi, the Class A district title; Davis and Billy Joe Young split the Northwest Suburban while Babler got a share of the Tri-River Conference crown.

"I don't envy your job," said one of the coaches last night. "It's a game you can't win."

How true.

OH, BY THE WAY, Davis is out of the hospital and back in school. The Glenn coach says, "He's feeling fine", and, "is eager to get back into harness."

A back ailment landed the veteran Glenn coach into St. Mary's Hospital (Livonia) just before the district playoffs. Was he disappointed by his team's loss to Detroit Chadsey?

"I'm always disappointed when our team loses," he said, "but I know that our kids played their hearts out to win. And that's what counts."

WITH THE ALL-AREA cage teams out of our way, the next job is selecting the top swimmers and wrestlers.

There shouldn't be any difficulty picking a wrestling team this year, not with a state champ looking over our shoulders.

But the swimmers pose a problem. There are somewhere in the vicinity of 30 All-Area tankers who make up this year's team — and how do you make room for that many on these pages?

Need some help, boss.

Belleville's Niemi is Coach of the Year

Seventeen years is a long time to wait for anything. But that's how long Belleville High basketball fans waited for a district basketball championship.

And the man who gave it to them is second year coach Tom Niemi.

Niemi and his Tigers captured a Class A District championship to cap a 18-5 over-all season. That record is also the best in the school's history. It shattered the old mark of 13-4 set in 1958.

For his accomplishments, The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers have selected Niemi as their Coach of the Year.

Niemi, 33, turned Belleville's cage fortunes around in two years. After a sluggish 5-15 record in his inaugural season as the Tiger mentor, Niemi managed to field an explosive team that was second best to Plymouth Salem in the tough Suburban 8 Conference.

TOM NIEMI

What was the key to this year's success?

"Team work," replied Niemi, "we played very well as a team and all of our players — from starter to every one on the bench — were unselfish."

"And, I feel that did it for us."

NIEMI arrived at Belleville High last year after serving four years as an assistant coach at Livonia Franklin. He also coached one year at Negaunee, a school that is still alive, incidentally, in the chase for the Class C state championship.

Niemi is a graduate of Northern Michigan University (1963) and has earned his masters from Eastern Michigan University. He teaches U.S. History at the high school.

Married to Pat, the Niemis have one child, Chris, who is three.

If Belleville cage rivals think they will be able to avenge some of their losses next year, they should take a good look at the Tiger roster.

Six of the players, including Dennis Easley, a 6-3 junior who appears well on the way to becoming an outstanding cager, will be back in Niemi's lineup next year.

By TOM MOORADIAN
Eagle Sports Editor

Walt Easley and Mel Abraham, two slick working, deft ball-handlers whose jump shots helped Belleville High shatter a 17-year-old record were named today to lead the 1974 All-Area basketball team.

Joining Easley and Abraham on the coveted first team are Cherry Hill's 6-foot-6, 200-pound senior Bob Fowler, Westland John Glenn's Terry Johnson and Wayne Memorial's John Nibert.

It is a lineup that any coach in the state would be proud of.

All five are dedicated basketball players. All were unanimous choices to their respective conference teams. All are heavily recruited by the colleges and universities.

None have made commitments to any of the colleges.

EASLEY'S backcourt wizardry earned him respect from all who tried to stop him. He scored at a 15.4 per game clip and amassed 338 points for the season. He counted 83 assists and picked off 63 errant passes as well as blocked 19 shots.

Though he's 5-11, he jumps as if he were a 6-foot-5 cager and that leap helped him haul down 127 rebounds.

ABRAHAM, who was a member of the mythical All-Area team last year, scored 391 points in his senior year for a 17.0 ppg. average. He also collected 116 rebounds and accounted for 60 assists and 37 steals.

"His ability to go to the base line and drive underneath the big people plus his excellent jump shot made Mel dangerous at all times," said Belleville Coach Tom Niemi.

"Walt and Mel are outstanding guards and were the mainstays of our team. They are smart ball players and our opposition knew they had to stop them if they were going to beat us."

ONLY FIVE rivals ever did halt Belleville this season. In fact, Belleville's 18-5 won-lost record is a school record, eclipsing the old mark of 13-4 amassed during the 1958 season.

Fowler ended a sensational career at Cherry Hill. His records could remain on the boards for years to come, according to Coach Dick McNally.

"Bob's commitment and dedication to basketball helped to make him the finest player I have ever coached and undoubtedly the best in this school's history."

"Because of his commitment the kids over here became enthused and helped our program tremendously," noted McNally.

Sought after by more than 200 colleges and universities, Fowler's credentials are overwhelming. He has 1,597 career points and 1,114 records — records which will last a long time at Cherry Hill.

"If there was a finer cager in the area this season," added McNally, "I didn't see him."

NIBERT is another cager with an abundance of college potential. The 6-foot-5, 180-pound Wayne senior sank 493 points in his 22 appearances this year. And that total stands as a single season scoring record.

Nibert also snared 319 rebounds for a 14.1 per game average.

"John certainly in my mind is the most complete player that I have ever coached," said Bill Hawley.

"and few knew that he played his last game of the season in the districts with a severe leg injury."

"In fact, right up to game time he was still hobbling," offered Hawley, "but he played, that's how devoted he is to the game."

ROUNDING OUT the starting five is Johnson, who helped Westland John Glenn set a consecutive streak winning record (14) and capture a share of the Northwest Suburban Conference championship.

A 6-3, 190-pound senior who was a regular on Coach Gordie Davis' varsity team for three years, Terry ended his prep career with a 16.0 scoring average and 10 rebounds per.

"Terry is a natural leader and a key link in our successful season," Davis said.

The Rockets finished the campaign with a 18-5 record.

3 juniors picked All-Area

Remember these names well: Pat Sheridan, Greg Emery and Dave Niles - they will be the superstars of the prep cage scene next year.

As juniors, Sheridan, Emery and Niles muscled their way into the All-Area lineup, teaming with Westland John Glenn seniors

John Jesson and Harry Polovino to form the second team.

A year from now the three juniors will probably be "unstoppable".

EMERY, a 6-3½, 180-pound center who sparked Garden City East to a co-championship in the North-west Suburban Conference almost singlehandedly won the title for Coach Billy Joe Young and the Panthers.

With less than 12 seconds left, Greg hit on a 15-foot jump shot that gave East a key victory over league rival, Oak Park, and with only one second on the clock, his 16 footer beat North Farmington.

"Greg's a clutch player," said Coach Young, "and I feel that his biggest strength lies in that he has the moves to either get a shot or pass off to a teammate."

Emery rounded out his second year as a Panther record by scoring 372 points. (He hit on 156 of his 377 attempts for .411 percentage.)

He also hauled down 220 rebounds, an average of 11 per game and counted 31 steals.

GREG'S 34 points against North Farmington and 32 against co-champ, John Glenn, were keys to the Panthers' first title in the league.

Sheridan is an excellent all-around athlete, having earned letters in baseball and football as well. The 6-foot-3, 175-pound junior scored at a 15.3 clip and also had seven rebounds per game.

"Pat is an explosive ball player," said Coach Bill Hawley, "he has outstanding athletic skills and his great leaping ability and superb jump shots will make him one of the finest ball players to ever come out of this area."

Pat's athletic skills were developed early. His father, Art, is the head coach at Henry Ford Community College.

NILES is a 6-foot-3 guard who was Garden City West's floor general. An outstanding marksman whose pinpoint passing kept the opposition on its toes, Dave led West to a share of the Tri-River Conference championship.

"Niles was definitely the player that made us go," said Chris Babler, "he keeps his cool under pressure and will get the job done."

"I don't think I have coached a finer all-around player," added the West mentor.

The two seniors on this year's squad, Polovino and Jesson, helped make Glenn a powerhouse.

Polovino handled the backcourt chores and his dribbling acuity was a key to breaking the press and setting up the offense.

"Our rivals had difficulty pressing us because of Harry," said Glenn coach Gordie Davis, "he's an excellent and clever ball handler and I must say he made our team the way it was."

GLENN won 17 of 22 and at one stretch had a 14-game winning streak.

The 5-10 guard broke the school's assist record, setting it at 146 in 22 games.

Jesson completed his second year of varsity competition with a 15.9 scoring and a 10.1 rebounding averages, respectively.

"John is one of the hardest workers we had on this year's team," said Davis, "he had to work against players who were three to four inches bigger than he was. And you could always depend upon him to get the job done."

Miss Rice places 5th at AIA swim meet

Clarion State College women swimmers placed sixth in a field of 57 colleges and universities competing in the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women Eastern Regionals, at the University of Pennsylvania.

And making a big contribution was Wayne diver Aleta Rice.

Maggie Horning, of Natrona Heights, was the only individual qualifier, placing sixth in the 100 breaststroke, 50 breaststroke and 100 I.M., and eighth in the 200 I.M. She equalled her varsity record in the 100 I.M.

ALETA RICE

Titusville's Barbara Seel was first in the one-meter diving and Chris Seufert, of Ambler, was first in the three meter dive. SEUFERT was fourth in the one-meter dive and Aleta Rice, of Wayne, was fifth in that event.

Seel was second and Rice third in the three-meter dive.

In the 200 medley relay, the team of Donna DeViney, Horning, Lynn Eyeles and Carol Harvey was ninth with a new varsity record time of 1:57.06.

The 400 medley relay team of DeViney, Carol Kohlhaas, Eyeles and Harvey was 11th. Clarion finished just ahead of West Chester, while Princeton was first.

Slocum 4th in state

Wayne wins wrestling crown

While Lamar Sandusky had his problems, Randy Slocum managed to place fourth in the state at the state wrestling finals held at Michigan State University over the weekend.

Slocum, a 170-pound Belleville High senior, lost his first match to Rick Jenkins, of Warren Lincoln, who eventually went on to capture the state title in that weight class.

Then, the Belleville grappler came back to beat his next four opponents - Bill Doerr (Fushing), Mel Chedy (Warren Mott), Don Hull (Dearborn Heights Annapolis), and Bill Petoskey (Ann Arbor Pioneer).

IN THE consolation finals, Slocum lost the third place medal to Wayne Memorial's Rick Hislop on an overtime referee's decision.

Meanwhile, Sandusky, the only Romulus representative in the state tournament, lost his opening match to 108-pound rival, Greg Dawson (Flint Northwestern), and wrestled back to beat Sterling Heights Stevenson's Don English before John Glenn's Agnon Vasha eliminated the Eagle grappler.

VASHA, a junior, defeated Rochester's Ron Steele in the consolation finals. He established himself as one of the top prep wrestlers in the state and will definitely be a serious contender for the state title next year.

"I'M RATHER disappointed in Agnon's final showing," said Glenn Coach

Bob Lusk, "because I felt he could have gone all the way this season. But he proved that he is one of the finest wrestlers in the state. And not many wrestlers can boast Agnon's achievement."

Vasha lost to Warren Mott's Dave Cartier; however, he posted victories over Lamar Sandusky (Romulus), Ed Yachanin (Clio) and handed Ed Snook (Grand Rapids Union) his first loss of the season.

Vasha piled up a 43-2 record as a junior.

Glenn also received a sixth place performance from its 115-pounder, senior Don Cicotte who pinned Don Barge (Pontiac Northern) and defeated Ray Torres (Jackson), but lost to Don Rocheleau (Hazel Park) who eventually won the title in the weight class. Cicotte also lost to Chris Slade (Clawson) and Dave Spinzola (Washington Eisenhower).

Glenn's only other state qualifier, Fred Shoemaker, (141) also a junior, lost his first two matches and was eliminated.

SCOTT RENNER, the only Garden City West representative, pinned 158-pounder, Bill Monette (Madison Heights Lamphire) but then dropped his next match to Charley Evans (Adrian) on a fall.

Renner managed to wrestle back to beat Eric McLachlan (Traverse City) on a fall, then was eliminated by Flint Southwestern's Bruce Campbell. Wayne Memorial captured its first Class A state wrestling championship Saturday before a crowd of 5,000 who had jammed into Jenison Fieldhouse.

Ranked No. 1 or 2 throughout the 1974-75 season, Coach Don Haney's Zebras eked out a narrow half-point victory over Adrian. Wayne garnered 49 points to Adrian's 48½ at the state tournament which had more than 90 teams represented.

"IT IS ONE of the happiest days in my life," said Haney, who completed his sixth year as head coach but who has been coaching Wayne teams on-and-off for the past 15 years.

Haney attributed the state championship victory to "an all out team effort."

Wayne reached the state's highest plateau without the benefit of an individual state champ. The Zebras took two second places, one third and one sixth and parlayed them into the coveted state title.

WAYNE'S STATE runners were Paul Goosby (101) and Mark Ellis (115) while Rick Hislop (170) finished third and Gary Pate (108) wound up in sixth place.

Wayne also had four others at the state tournament including Bob Colaianne (120), Kevin Rize (148), Sid Parr (158) and Ed Willis (188).

Goosby's bid for a state championship fell short when arch-rival, Adrian's John Guerra managed to win a 5-1 decision in the finals. The Wayne wrestler's loss cut a 47-match winning streak.

However, Goosby did set the national record for most victories by a high school wrestler earlier in the day. He picked up his 117th victory, a national record, by decisioning Portage Northern's Smiddy, 8-3.

But Goosby must share that record with Grandville's 188-pounder, Shawn Whitcomb who also posted his 117th triumph later in the evening.

MARK ELLIS also ended a fantastic prep career by finishing second in the state.

Rick Hislop faced area rival, Randy Slocum of Belleville in the consolation round of the 170-pound class and the verdict went down to an overtime decision awarded to the Wayne senior.

For Bicentennial fest

Group tries to localize parade

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of Enterprise-Roman Staff

The forces are gathering in the Belleville-Van Buren Township area to bring the Wayne County Bicentennial Commission parade "closer to the people."

Patricia Cullin, co-

chairman of the Van Buren Bicentennial Committee, proposed at a recent meeting of the Wayne County organization to move the Bicentennial parade for the county from the traditional Woodward Avenue route in Detroit to a route down Michigan Avenue in Dearborn to Greenfield Village. "The route would have some historic significance, since Michigan Avenue is one of the oldest roads in this area, and since Greenfield Village has historical background," Mrs. Cullin said.

According to Marilyn Montgomery, Van Buren's other co-chairman for the community Bicentennial celebration, the Wayne County Bicentennial Committee took the suggestion under advisement in preparation for a final vote on the matter at the April 17 meeting of the county Bicentennial Commission. "The Van Buren contingent proposed the change in parade plans because it believes most communities in Wayne County would like the parade where their citizens can reach it easily," Mrs. Montgomery said. "I know Van Buren residents would have more of an opportunity to view the parade in Dearborn they would in Detroit."

Mrs. Montgomery added that the Van Buren plan has some chance of success following some parliamentary maneuvering at the March 6 meeting of the county Bicentennial Commission. The original rule on deciding the route was that all persons attending the meeting would vote on the choice; however, the rule was changed after some suburban delegates protested that they were outnumbered by the persons from Detroit.

"The decision was made by the chairman, Wayne County Commissioner Ervin Steiner, that each community would have one vote in the decision," Mrs. Montgomery said.

The Michigan Avenue and Woodward route to the river are not the only ones under consideration by the Bicentennial Commission. Other proposals include Telegraph Avenue starting near Joy Road in Redford and Woodward Avenue starting near the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

"A committee, which includes Van Buren resident Walter Green, will study each of the routes to determine their feasibility," Mrs. Montgomery said. "There are many staging problems which must be solved in planning the parade."

Mahalak asks scrutiny of Wayne County Jail

Reports of overcrowding and antiquated facilities at the Wayne County Jail have prompted State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus) to call for an investigation into problems at the facility.

Mahalak is co-sponsor of a resolution asking the State House to set up a special committee to study the problem and report findings and recommendations back to the Legislature.

"There is every evidence that Wayne County Jail facilities are seriously antiquated and that there is a pressing need to modernize the jail to meet present and future needs," Mahalak said.

Among other problems, the jail is severely overcrowded, he added, Mahalak cited reports of three or four prisoners being confined in a cell designed for just one person.

"This is a dangerous situation," he continued. "It makes the jail and the prisoners in it difficult to manage, it throws those being held for minor crimes in with hardened criminals and is an overall poor correction situation."

In co-sponsoring the resolution asking for the study committee, Mahalak said he considers it a responsibility of the Legislature to seek solutions to the short-run problem of overcrowding and to make certain that proper financing can be obtained to construct a new, modern jail.

"A new jail seems to be the only solution," he continued. "We need a facility that is more in keeping with state penal laws and one that will be serviceable for at least the next 30 years.

"This is not just a Wayne County problem. It is a crime and corrections problem which, in one way or another, affects the entire state. For the well-being and safety of everyone, we must find a solution."

Red Cross welcomes teachers to workshop

Elementary school teachers throughout Western Wayne County have been invited to attend a Youth Services Workshop today at 5 p.m. at the Red Cross Regional Office in the Village Plaza Shopping Center in Dearborn.

Focusing on health and youth service in the community, two special presentations will be featured. Larrestine Trimm, information specialist for the Michigan Department of Agriculture, will speak on good nutrition. She also will have materials for use in the classroom.

The second presentation involves giving students the opportunity to explore the possibility of serving the aged, the poor and those in institutions.

Leading the presentation will be a representative from Carr Elementary School in Lincoln Park. In the past, Carr has "adopted" elderly residents and entertained them with musical programs.

For information and reservations, call Red Cross Youth Services at 833-4440.

At Beyer, Belvil

16 sign in for medical care

Sixteen Western Wayne County residents recently found it necessary to take a break in their late winter activities and check in to Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti for various surgical and medical treatments.

Those entering Beyer for surgery included Belleville residents:

Helen Lawson of Barr, Robert A. Gilson Jr. of Mott, Robert A. Gilson Sr. of Mott, Margaret L. Hankins of Mott, Mrs. Robert Mercer of Beck Road, Mrs. Dennis Mitchelson of Willis Road, Lisa Scarano of Denton Road, Clarence Hartwell of Sumpter Road, Dana Bennett of Willis Road, Beverly Galloway of Martinsville Road, Jerry Anderson of Newton and Andrea Hamilton of Haggerty Road.

Admitted for other medical services were Belleville residents Mildred Stillwagon of Willis Road, Delmar C. Webb of Bemis, Cleo Walter of Western and Leslie King of Borgman.

In addition, six Belleville couples became proud parents with births of their babies at Beyer. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Gregory A.

Romoser of Lake Villa Drive, with a 6 lb. 11 oz. girl, Mr. and Mrs. Ted L. Santure of Willis Road with a 9 lb. 3 oz. boy, Mr. and Mrs. James McCall of Willis Road with a 7 lb. 6 oz. boy, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Routsaw of Mott Road with a 9 lb. 4 oz. boy, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weedon of Bemis Road with an 8 lb. 4 oz. boy and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hankala of Buchanan Street with a 7 lb. 4 oz. girl.

Admissions at Belvil Community Hospital included Charles Robinson of Denton Road, Belleville; Troy L. Smith of Harris Road, Belleville; Chandu Shewaram Mansharamani of Lakeville Drive, Belleville; Abigail Slaney, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Slaney of Rawsonville Road, Belleville; and Billy Wayne Lowe of Belleville Road, Belleville, for medical purposes.

While Belleville-area residents once had to take their children to Ypsilanti for day care services, they now have a facility offering the service almost at their doorstep.

The Bethany Baptist Church in Van Buren Township offers 13 hours of day care for children aged 2½ to five at a nominal cost and includes pre-school education as part of the program.

Vesta Losen, administrator of the center, said it was designed to benefit residents of Belleville and Van Buren who had no place to send their children for care during the day.

"Persons had to take their children miles from Belleville and then travel to work in the past," Mrs. Losen added. "But, with the day care center, we're able to offer them the service almost right at their doorstep."

The Bethany Day Care Center has been open since September and has 15 children enrolled.

The children are supervised during the day by Susan Klein, the program director, and are supervised by assistant teachers.

"We pay particular care to finding persons who enjoy children and who will be steady workers for us," Mrs. Losen said. "There's nothing more traumatic for a child than to know people and then have a new face to learn."

And to acquaint a child with the day-care routine, the Bethany Church center offers a visiting plan.

"We encourage parents who may want to enroll their children either for day care or the nursery school to bring their child in for a 1-day visit before leaving him with us permanently," Mrs. Losen continued. "It helps the parents see what the day care center is like, and the children have an opportunity to get acquainted with the routine.

"It makes it a little easier on the child when he's left for the full day of care."

Children enrolled in the day-long program are encouraged to perform learning crafts while at the center, and are offered two hours of nursery school between 9 and 11 a.m. daily.

In addition, children are given a nap hour later in the afternoon.

"The program's designed primarily for the working person, either father or mother, who can't care for their children during the day and yet don't like to leave them with a babysitter," Mrs. Losen said. "The children are socialized with others their age, and with nursery school, are geared toward entering school in the future."

Information on the program can be obtained by calling the center at 697-7456.

The Bethany Baptist Church is located at 810 Huron River Drive in Van Buren Township.

Resident attends sales workshop

Belleville resident Barbara Haley of 47148 Ayres has completed a 3-day fine jewelry sales workshop at the JC Penney Regional Training Center in suburban Chicago.

Miss Haley is a sales associate at the JC Penney department store in Ann Arbor's Briarwood Shopping Center and joined the company in 1973.

The special instruction included advanced training in product knowledge, customer service and proper selling techniques. Nearly 30 courses for sales, service and management associates are taught at the center to assure complete service for customers.

WHEREAS, The City Council of the City of Romulus deems it in the best interests of the City of Romulus and its citizens that the natural and continuous flow of ground water and the flow of water in all drainage ditches or drainage rights-of-way be unobstructed and free from debris;

WHEREAS, The City Council, in order to protect the general health, safety and welfare of the citizens and residents of the City of Romulus from the unhealthy conditions created when proper drainage is obstructed or not provided for, wishes to regulate the construction and maintenance of culverts and drainage pipes within the City;

NOW, THEREFORE, THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

Section 1. SHORT TITLE: Culvert and Drainage Pipe Construction Ordinance.

Section 2. DEFINITIONS:

(b). Watercourse: The natural path and/or direction of drainage of storm or surface water.

(c). Culvert: Metal or concrete structure or other material approved by the Building Department used to direct the flow of water in a drainage ditch or natural water course.

(f). Owner: shall be any person who shall own, rent, lease or otherwise have control over real property.

Section 3. UNLAWFUL OBSTRUCTION. Section 4. CONSTRUCTION WITHOUT PERMIT. It shall be unlawful for any person to construct a culvert or drainage system without obtaining a permit to construct the same from the Building Department of the City of Romulus.

Section 5. PERMIT, FEE ISSUANCE. Before commencing construction on a culvert or drainage system, all persons shall apply to the Building Department of the City of Romulus for a permit; and shall pay a fee with each application in an amount to be determined by a Resolution of the City Council.

(a). All applications shall contain the following:

1. Location of construction.

the Building Inspector, upon inspection, determine that the proposed construction will not adequately provide for the normal flow of water or that the materials to be used in construction do not meet the minimum requirements for the use intended, the permit will be denied.

(c). Upon filing with the City a Performance Bond as provided by the General Building Code, Article 1.5, Section 130.1 for issuance of a Building Permit.

Section 8. NOTICE OF VIOLATION. The owner of the property upon which or in front of which there exists an obstructed culvert or drainage system in violation of Section 4 or 7 of this Ordinance, shall be notified in writing of said violation by the Department of Public Works, by certified mail sent to their last known address and by posting said notice upon the property in a conspicuous place. Said written notice shall advise the owner of the nature of the violation and that the owner shall have twenty (20) days from said mailing and posting to correct the violation or obtain a permit pursuant to Section 5.

Section 9. VIOLATION CORRECTION BY CITY. If the owner does not remove the obstruction or otherwise correct said violation within the above twenty (20) day period as provided in Section 8, the City of Romulus may do the work necessary to correct the violation and may enter upon the property of the owner to do so. All costs and expenses incurred by the City shall become a lien upon the property in the manner provided for in the ordinances and statute. Of pollution

Students show concern

Pollution was very much on the minds of a group of seventh graders at North Junior High School in Belleville recently, and after completing a unit of study on the problem, they decided to do more.

"They decided that one way to reach a lot of people with their message would be to use the newspaper," said teacher Mary Smith in explaining her class's reaction to the recent study area. "They felt that the best place to start a change for the better is at home, so their opinions concern pollution problems and solutions in Belleville."

The student submitted their ideas and opinions to The Enterprise-Roman, and selected portions are reprinted here exactly as written.

A "friend of the earth," Mark Thompson, said he thinks it was "disgraceful how they dumped all those chemicals into Ford (Lake) to kill the fish. I know it was meant only for the bad fish such as carp, but I think no fish should be killed no matter what kind they are."

Margaret Kubitsky wished "people would stop and think of what they're doing...they're throwing pop bottles, trash, empty beer cans." She claimed that "if people start cleaning up this wouldn't be no ordinary thing. We would be able to fish and swim in the lake and rivers of Belleville."

Glenna Fitzwilliams lamented: "There tearing down all the forestes and pretty soon there will not be any plants, trees and animals in Belleville then man will be sorry. Will all die with out oxygen. We're almost dead now!"

Pat Garrett said, "I think the town of Belleville needs more plant life." Classmate Cathy Pierson agreed, adding:

"You're probably thinking to yourself, Belleville has a flower shop and trees on the islands in Belleville lake and in a few peoples yards. But thats not enough."

Adding concern about plantlife in Belleville was Marie Monforton. "I think our town should not have so many buildings where there is plantlife," she said.

"You have been cutting down forest's and putting up brick houses," charged Jim Buhr. "Our wild life is becoming dog's cat's and some wild birds. There are no more rabbits deer chipmonk's or any others in this city. Stop cutting down trees and bring some wild life here and let mother nature take its course."

Larry Daniels said: "The sewage, the waste chemicals, its all there in black and white, and sometimes a dull gray. What good is all this, not a bit, it is a problem and it must be solved."

"I think we should clean up Belleville and Van Buren Township because we don't want it to be like some other cities," added Mark Alsbaugh. "We should tell people, when they throw paper (and so on) on the ground to pick it up."

Kipper Bray decided "Belleville's biggest pollution problem is water, the water we live around is being polluted if it isn't already."

"Noise pollution is too many motorcycles with no mufflers and cars with little or no mufflers and cars that are overpowered that make too much noise and boats on the lake have almost no silencing," complained Mike Grolton. "People don't even notice it anymore."

"I have noticed a factory that is polluting the water," said, Steve Schroeder. "There is always the pollution problem right in the city of Belleville and that is air, litter and still the water is involved."

From Garth Hammer: "I'm concerned Air

Pollution. If people would make one trip to the supermarket instead of three or four, just buy every thing you need wright there and you would be saving money and gas and oil...you are making Air Pollution every time you go to the supermarket."

Teri Medellin wrote about "wild life because I am concerned about the ducks and fish and the rest of the animals."

Finally, Dale L. Henry said, "I don't think that the City of Belleville has a big pollution problem."

LEGISLATOR VISITS—Van Buren Board of Education President Lynn Hamilton (left) sat down for a brief chat with Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) during the latter's recent visit to Belleville High School and the Van Buren Public School District.

'Number' opens drive to finance its activities

The first two phases of "The Number's" fund-raising campaign now is in progress, according to chairman Kathy Horste.

During the implementation of this part of the campaign, every business in the Belleville-Van Buren Township area will be approached by a member of the committee and urged to support the activities of "The Number."

"The Number" provides a hot-line for people in the area who are undergoing a crisis and need help immediately. By calling 699-2039 immediate or referral help is possible for persons with personal or financial problems by trained volunteer personnel.

In addition to the hot-line service "The Number" recently has initiated a group therapy program for youth which is handled by trained persons. Therapy for other age groups will be added as the program expands.

"The Number" covers a large area, including Huron, Van Buren, Augusta, and Sumpter townships and the cities of Belleville and Romulus, all of which will be covered in the current campaign, expected to continue for two months.

Contributors may deduct donations from their Federal income tax as a result of The Number's newly granted tax-exempt status.

Restaurant 'boom' hits Van Buren

The Van Buren Township Planning Commission has started what can be called a "restaurant boom" in the community.

The commission has approved the site plans for three restaurants to be constructed along I-94, including one which will request a liquor license from the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees.

At its March 5 meeting, the Planning Commission unanimously approved site plans for a Nickerson Farms Restaurant, a McDonald's and a Big Boy.

Both the Big Boy and Nickerson Farms outlets will be located along Belleville Road north of I-94.

The McDonald's will be located on Rawsonville Road near K-Mart. In approving the restaurant plans, the Planning Commission received permission from both Nickerson Farms and Big Boy to use right-of-way in front of the facilities for a service drive along Belleville Road.

The township's plan for Belleville Road calls for a service drive along the eastern edge of the road for traffic using commercial establishments. Eventually the road will be extended to Tyler Road.

With the Planning Commission approval, the outlets can begin construction of their restaurants. No target date has been set for completion of any of the restaurants.

The officers of Nickerson Farms indicated they will be requesting a liquor license prior to opening the restaurant.

Soul dinner tops week at South

During Black History Week recently, one of the main activities that went on at Belleville South Junior High School, was a "Soul Dinner."

This dinner was held on Feb. 13 and approximately 115 people attended. Those that were present at the dinner were South's black students, their parents, Student Council, faculty and the administration.

Besides having the dinner, Willie Lockhart Jr. of Detroit recited an essay that dealt with black people, from slavery to the present day.

The evening ended with a fashion show with clothes ranging from traditional African garb to semi-formal evening gowns.

Earnest Robinson and Cynthia Coleman, both teachers at Belleville South Junior High School, was chairman and co-chairman of the event. Others that gave their time and help were Richard Kiessel, Student Council sponsor; John Forsyth, assistant principal and Don F. White, principal. Those students in charge of a committee were Karen Van Buren, Joyce Howard, Mark Speights, Carolyn Dickerson and Chuck Johnson, along with many others who made the program an outstanding success.

Citizens invited to meet

All Romulus citizens are invited to an "open forum" scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight at Gordonier Elementary School, 29814 Smith Road in Romulus.

Members of the Romulus City Council and the city's administration will attend the open forum to discuss the concerns of Romulus residents, particularly those living in the Gordonier school area.

The meeting will be similar to one held at Cory Elementary School earlier this month.

'Number' offers volunteer classes

Residents interested in helping with the activities offered by "The Number," the Belleville community's crisis-counseling center, can take advantage of a training series set to begin next Wednesday.

The training will consist of 10 once-a-week sessions with both in-class and on-the-job training provided.

The course includes training in counseling skills, drug information and crisis treatment, suicidology and Venereal Disease and is designed to enable the counselor to deal with any problem received over the crisis lines.

The time commitment asked of each volunteer is that they work one 4-hour shift a week and attend a once-a-month inservice training meeting also that they may be available to work for at least a 6-month period. Anyone from 16 to 160 can volunteer and formal education is not a requirement, just a desire to assist others in a crisis.

"The Number" is experiencing this year.

As new programs start, such as the rap group for young people ages 14-17 that starts this month, new volunteers are needed to help. If a volunteer has special skills, he or she is likely to find that "The Number" can find a spot where they skills can be used most effectively.

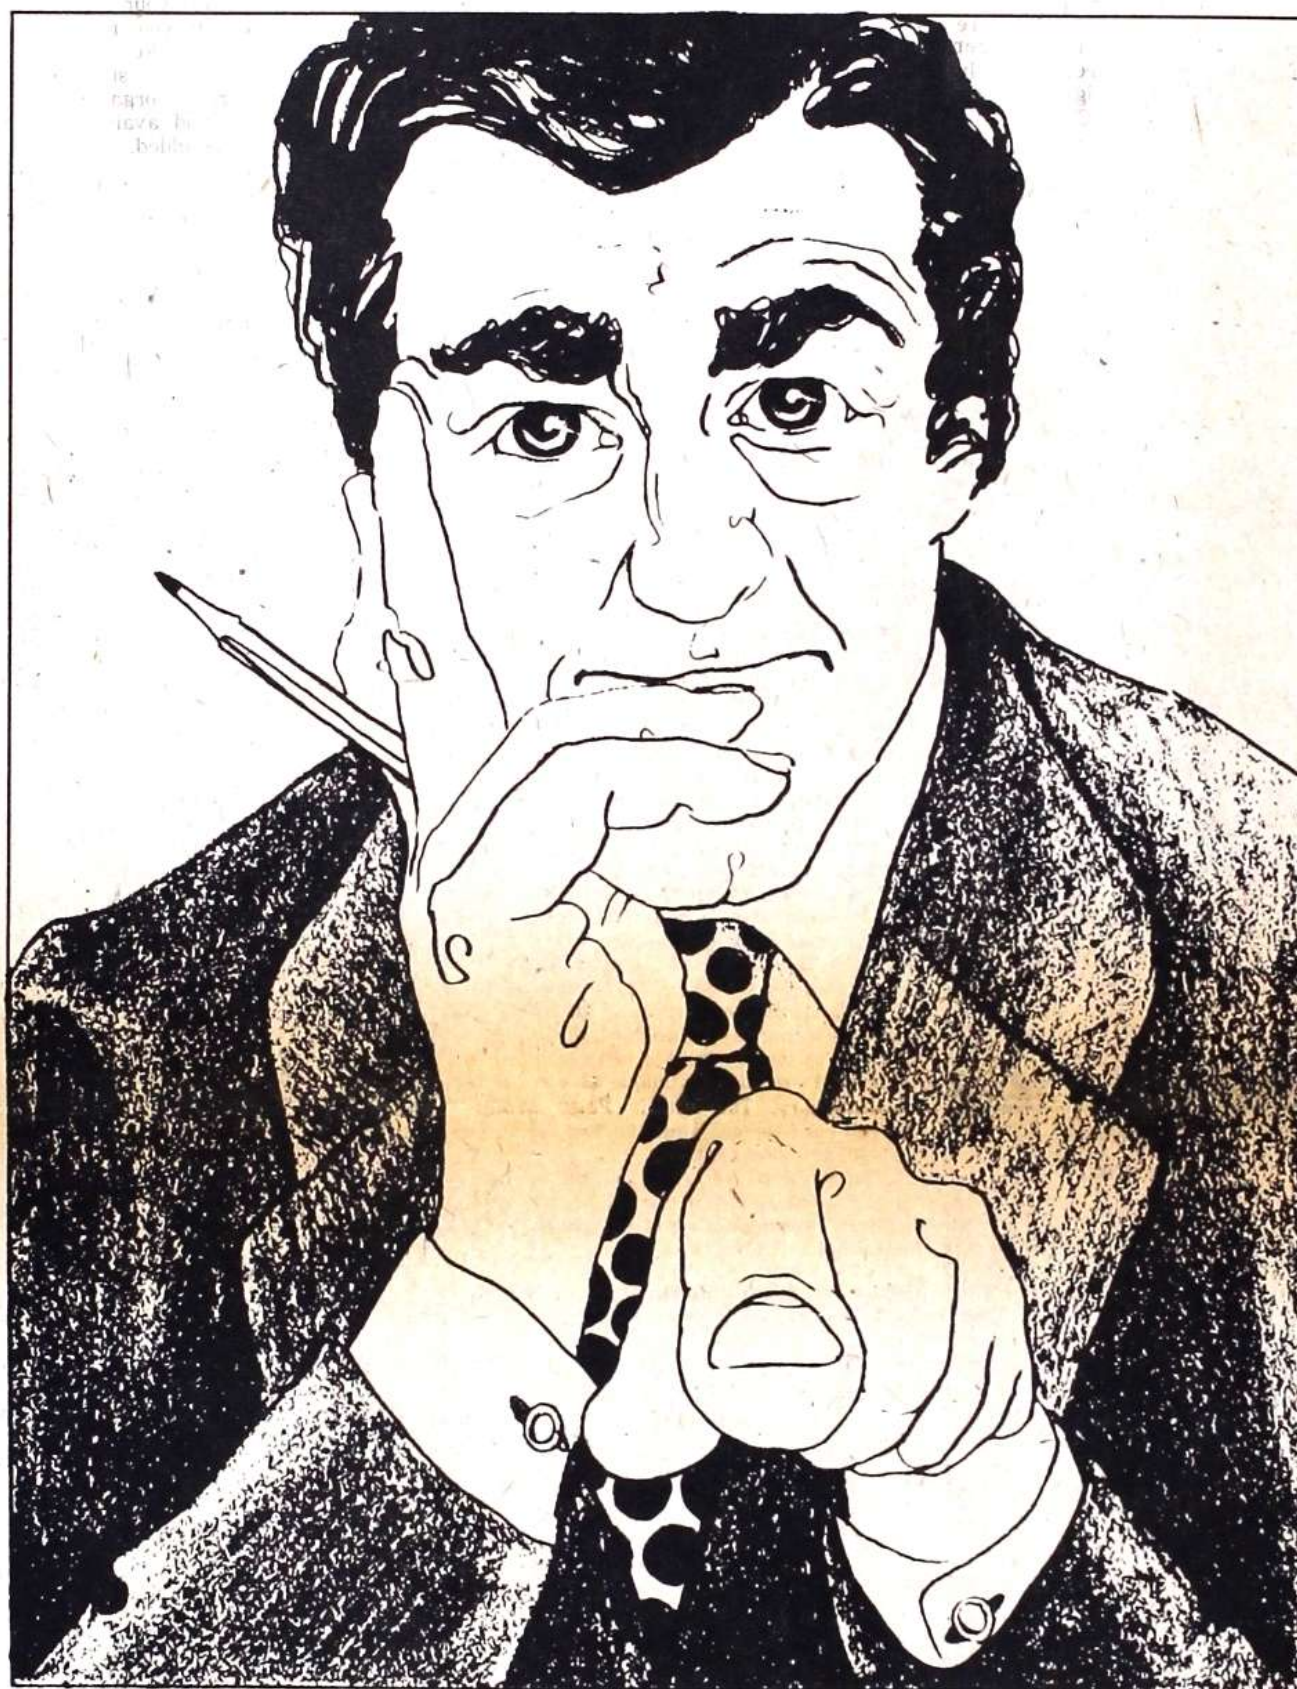

Anyone interested can call "The Number" at 699-2039 and talk to a volunteer and sign up.

Cougars to hold dance

The Belleville Cougars of the Western Suburban Little League Football Association will hold its annual St. Patrick's Day Dance at 8 p.m. March 15 at the Polish National Alliance Hall at Sumpter and Harris roads.

Bobo adds support to out-county patrols

The chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has told police officers from 25 departments throughout the county he fully agrees that sheriff's road patrols should be continued in the out-county communities.

Coming at a time when some members of the county board have been pressing for curtailment, Roscoe Bobo's remarks drew a standing ovation from his audience, which included some 100 members of the Wayne County Police Lieutenants, Sergeants and Corporals Association.

Bobo was the guest speaker at a recent association meeting in Riverview. His audience represented 23 out-county communities, the State Police and Wayne State University security forces.

His personal commitment drew an enthusiastic response from out-county officers who would most feel the additional burden if the road patrols were withdrawn from their areas.

Bobo told his audience the biggest single problem facing police today is re-earning the respect of the community.

"Give us (the commissioners) your ideas and we'll help you meet that challenge. We can implement your suggestions with proper organizational support and available funding," he added.

Bobo, vice-chairman of the Detroit-Wayne County Criminal Justice Coordinating Council and a former deputy police chief who could speak the language of his listeners, later was presented with a Citation of Achievement by the police association.

When questioned on the progress being made to build a new Wayne County jail, following the talk, Bobo said he and other commissioners had just returned from Lansing where they met with both the majority and minority leaders in an effort to obtain a $30 million loan to construct a new jail.

"We plan to repay the loan through sale of the county water plant to the City of Detroit," he added.

Asked if there might be an alternate method of acquiring funds for a jail, Bobo said:

"If we find ourselves really boxed in, we believe there is proper legislation available to bond without public approval, a step we might have to take as a last resort."

"We feel we have made considerable improvement over the past four years in helping relieve some of the stress on the Sheriff's Department. We've reduced the jail population by almost half and nearly doubled the sheriff's budget and substantially increased the strength of the road patrol."

Patient drivers sought

Residents of the Western Wayne Communities are reminded that volunteer drivers are needed urgently by the Michigan Cancer Foundation (MCF).

Licensed drivers that have a car and some time available are asked to help. Call the MCF Office at 565-1440 to volunteer.

One of the free services provided by the MCF is transportation to and from cancer treatment centers for patients who are without transportation of their own. There is a continuing need for such service. Each driver is given complete directions for finding the patient's home and treatment center. All patients are ambulatory and need little assistance.

Drivers in any part of Western Wayne County are welcome. However, volunteers are needed especially in the Garden City area.

Mileage driven for MCF is an income tax deduction.

Lord's death proves unique

This sermon is part of a 6-part series of Lenten sermons being offered by members of the ministry in the Belleville Community. This week's sermon is by The Rev. John F. Losen, pastor of Bethany Baptist Church, 810 E. Huron River Dr.

THE UNIQUE DEATH OF JESUS CHRIST

Sometimes people refer to an unusual happening as being unique, but something unique is different from all others; having no like or equal.

Our Lord's death was unique in the truest sense of the word. There never has been another like it, or equal to it.

Two malefactors died with Him that same afternoon but there was nothing peculiar about their death. However, Christ's death was not entirely by crucifixion. He Himself explains it in John 10:17, 18:

"I lay down my life that I might take it again, no man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again."

"This truth also is illustrated dramatically when the soldiers came to the garden to arrest Him. He asked 'Whom seek ye?' They answered 'Jesus of Nazareth.' Notice that they referred to Christ by His human name. There was no recognition of His real person as the Divine Son of God equal with the Father. The results of His words were startling. 'They went backwards and fell to the ground.'"

Our Lord's death was unique also in the fact that it was substitutionary. The apostle Peter wrote: "Christ hath suffered once for our sins, the just for the unjust that He might bring us to God."

My friends, have you exercised simple faith by inviting the Saviour to come into your heart. Receive Him today and you will have experienced the new birth spoken of by Christ in John, Chpt. 3.
